

NEW RATE REQUEST TO BE EXPLAINED

Local Shippers Will Be Interested In Special Meeting of Chamber of Commerce Tomorrow.

INCREASED TARIFFS ASKED

Representatives of Railroad to Present Their Side of the Existing Situation.

At the request of the representatives of the railroads in this district, John A. Shields, president of the Seymour Chamber of Commerce, has called a special meeting of the organization for 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the city building. The purpose of the meeting, it is explained, is to give the railroad representatives an opportunity to explain to local shippers why they have filed a petition with the Interstate commerce commission for an increase in freight rates. The request is for approximately thirty per cent. on all classes of freight.

The meeting will be of especial interest to manufacturers and other large shippers in this city. The proposed advance in freight tariffs will amount to a substantial sum locally each year. Freight rates of direct concern to consumers as well as to shippers and it is for this reason that the railroad representatives have asked for the Chamber of Commerce meeting so that a full explanation may be presented.

The meeting is called by all the railroads in this district and is one of a series being held in the ten districts in Indiana. R. L. Galleher, general freight agent of Indiana division of the Baltimore & Ohio, or F. G. Maus, general freight agent of the Louisville division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, will present the carriers' side of the case at the local meeting.

"The new railroad bill provides that the carriers of the nation or any group of carriers may file a petition with the Interstate commerce commission for rate increases or adjustment sufficient to provide a reasonable return," said Mr. Galleher in speaking of the meeting tomorrow. "Indiana is divided into ten districts, all of the railroads in each co-operating in presenting the situation to the shippers before the petition comes to a hearing next Monday.

"The purpose of the meeting in Seymour is to acquaint shippers in this vicinity with railroad operating conditions. Most of them already know that the railroads are entitled to higher rates. During federal control no new freight cars were purchased and repair work was reduced to a minimum. The higher freight rates which the railroads are asking are intended to provide additional revenue for equipment and maintenance work so that transportation conditions may be restored to the efficiency which was attained prior to government control."

BEAN LODGED IN LUNG CAUSES CHILD'S DEATH

Two-Year Old Son of the Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Schweinfurt, Dies at Cincinnati Hospital.

Basil, the two-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Schweinfurt, of White Creek, died at a Cincinnati hospital Saturday, where he was taken to undergo an operation to have a bean, which lodged in his lung, removed. The child's case was a most unusual one and the best of medical attention was given but it was impossible to remove the bean which caused his death.

The body arrived here Saturday night and was taken to the home of the Rev. B. E. Fishbach, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, on South Poplar street. It was removed to the Schweinfurt home Sunday evening where the funeral service was held this afternoon at 2:30. The child's father is pastor of the White Creek Methodist church.

COUNTY ASSESSOR HAS ALL REPORTS

Preparing Township Appraisement Figures for Review of Equalization Board.

TOTALS ARE NOT COMPILED

Aggregate Assessment, However, Will Not Reach Amount Finally Fixed Last Year.

While all the township assessors have turned in their appraisement sheets and figures to James Brananman, county assessor, no information is yet available as to the total assessments in Jackson county this year. Mr. Brananman said that it will probably be the latter part of next week before any report relative to the county as a whole is prepared.

The township assessors file their individual assessment sheets with the county assessor who sends them to the state printer in Indianapolis to be bound in book form so that any sheet will be accessible for ready reference when the county board of review meets next month. The township assessors are also required to file a summary of their work and from these the first figures as to the county appraised value are compiled.

Mr. Brananman said that it is even difficult to make a guess as to the total figures until a part of the townships, at least, are added, but he is of the opinion that the total appraisement will exceed that made by the assessors last year. However, it is not expected to be as large as the amount that was finally fixed by the state board of tax commissioners after the horizontal increases on personal property and real estate were ordered.

There is considerable speculation as to what the state board will do this year if the total is not as large as it decreed last year. Real estate, of course, cannot be molested this year as the appraisements were made last year for a period of four years. The new personal property schedule blank is expected to result in a material increase in this form of property, although the final figures may not show such a substantial advance as members of the state board had anticipated.

The board of review will convene June 8 and will attempt to adjust all appraisements so that they will be on a fair and equitable basis. The board will be confronted with considerable work, although it will not be charged with the responsibility of assessing partnerships and private corporations as these have been taken over by the state board.

RUN OVER BY HARROW

Jonesville Boy Seriously Injured in Peculiar Accident.

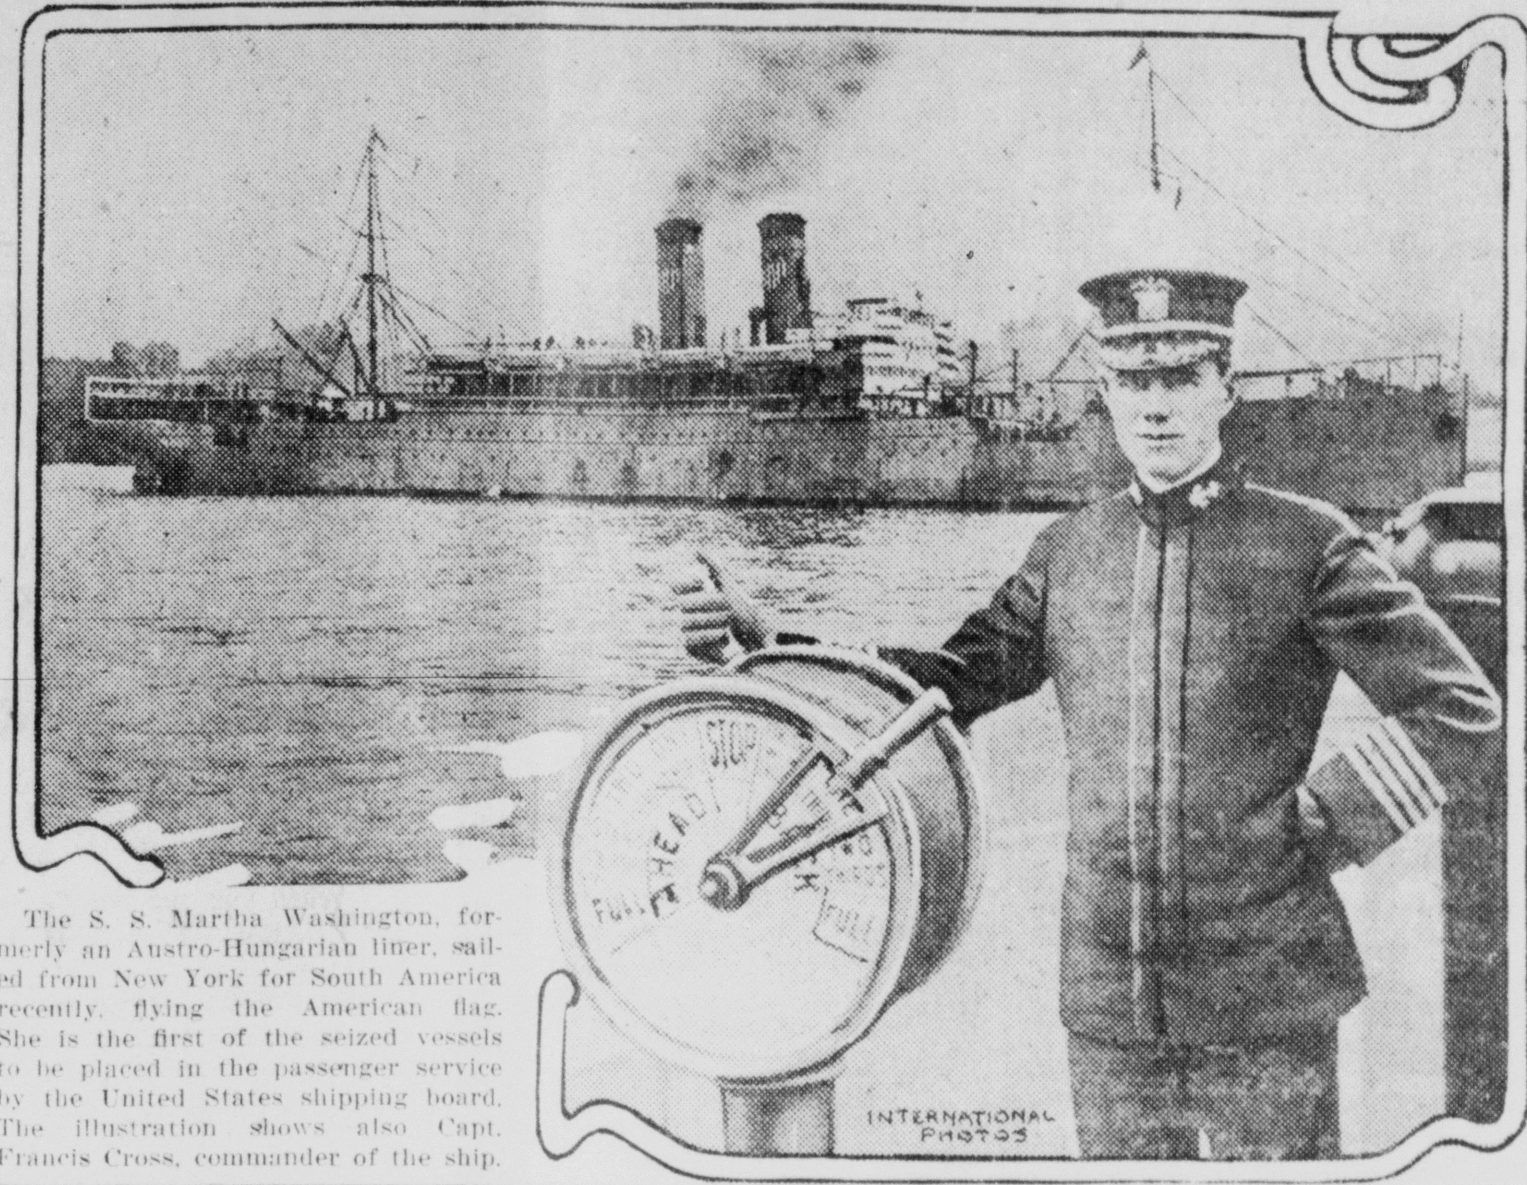

Kenneth Hill, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill, of Jonesville, was seriously injured Saturday afternoon when he fell in front of and was run over by a three section spike-tooth harrow while working in a field near his home. The child had been working in the field for some time and the horse, on which he was riding, became frightened throwing the lad off. The harrow passed completely over his body and badly lacerated his face and body. One of the child's ribs was broken and a deep gash cut in his lower jaw. Although painful, it is not believed that his injuries will prove fatal.

SEYMOUR TO HAVE A BASEBALL PARK

Prominent Business Men Get Behind Move to Organize Fast Club For This Season.

FANS DISPLAY MUCH INTEREST

Meeting Will Be Held at City Building Thursday Evening at 7:30 To Complete Organization.

That Seymour is to have a baseball park and a fast ball team this season is practically assured. A meeting has been called for Thursday evening at 7:30 to be held at the city building for the purpose of completing the organization and all persons interested in a baseball team are requested to be present.

For several weeks a movement has been underway to organize a baseball team and build a park which has been taken up by prominent business men who will get the assistance of all of the lovers of the great American sport in the city. Among those who are behind the move are T. S. Blish, W. L. Johnson, Nathan Kaufman, J. H. Andrews and Fred Able and it is believed that other business men will be interested in the proposition when they learn that it is a certainty.

The Blish field near Shields park has been secured for a diamonds and it will make a fine ball park. A grand stand will be erected and the public will be given an opportunity to see some good ball games this summer if the plans now underway are carried out.

Much interest in the plan promoted by a few fans and business men is being manifested by the public in general. Lou Becker, who will be remembered by many local fans as one of the old Seymour Reds' stars, has agreed to manage the baseball team. A president, secretary and treasurer of the ball club will be elected at the meeting to be held Thursday night. Just as soon as the organization is completed the work of building a grand stand at the Blish field will be started and a team composed of the best players in Seymour will be organized.

The interest being manifested in baseball by the younger boys of the city has caused the business men to get behind the baseball club move and at the same time furnish a place for them to play this summer. It is apparent that the baseball spirit in Seymour has been revived and many will be anxious to witness the first game of the season. Those behind the move are anxious to have a large crowd present at the meeting Thursday night.

RAILROAD WAGES TO BE INCREASED

Representative of Railway Managers Announces They Are Ready to Grant Advances.

TO BE PASSED ON TO PUBLIC

Interstate Commerce Commission May Take Over Control of Freight Shipments.

Chicago, May 18—Railroad owners through E. F. Whittier, chairman of the conference committee to railway managers, today told President Wilson's railroad labor board here they were ready to grant wage increases to employees. The extent of increase was not specified. It will be left to the board.

Whittier urged a system whereby wages should be automatically increased or cut as the cost of living rises or falls.

Wage increases, according to Whittier, will be passed on to the public in the form of increased rates in passenger and freight service.

"Some parts of the new demands by employees the board will probably find justified by the rise in the cost of living," said Whittier in his statement. Whittier declared the railroad owners would stand by the board's decision.

Wage increase to employees in the last four years have totaled $1,300,000,000 or fifty-three per cent, he said.

"We are here in good faith and not to argue that all the workers should be denied their request," he said. "We appreciate fully that the increase received by some employees

THREAT OF ANOTHER PARTY

Committees Named to Attend Both Chicago and San Francisco National Conclaves.

Washington, May 17—Organized farmers have completed plans to force recognition of their wants in the presidential platforms of both political parties according to information here today.

Political leaders have been warned that unless farmers obtain this recognition there is a possibility of the origin of a new party.

A committee of one hundred farmer representatives will go to Chicago and San Francisco to work for legislation desired by farmers, Charles Lyman, president of the National farmers organization, said today.

Among the forms desired by farmers as outlined today by Lyman is:

Amendment of anti-trust legislation to give farmers full opportunity to buy and sell through cooperative organizations.

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD OPENS HEARING ON WAGES

Chiefs of Brotherhoods Insist Upon Scale From $1,700 to 2,500 For Workers.

By United Press.

Labor leaders believed the board would establish salaries at from $1,700 to $2,500 yearly for the workers. B. M. Jewell, president of the American Employees department of the American Federation of Labor today declared only 2½ per cent of the railway workers receive a "living wage."

Among railroad presidents to testify are:

Hale Holden, of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy; J. Gorman, of the Rock Island; W. H. Finley of the Chicago and Northwestern; and President Byram of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul.

THE SECRETARY.

The committee recently appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to nominate a secretary for the organization has announced that it will make a complete and thorough investigation of the qualifications of each applicant before any report is filed. While the people of Seymour are anxious to have the new secretarial plan inaugurated as soon as possible they recognize that the work of the committee is of such character that it will not permit a hasty decision. Four applicants, it is stated, have asked for the place. It is likely that additional applications will be filed. It is highly important that the secretarial committee select the right man. Upon the new secretary will fall the responsibility of building up a new organization, one entirely different from any ever effected in Seymour. The secretary will be paid a salary commensurate with his work. He will devote all of his time to his office. His task will be to build up Seymour. Any other work he may undertake will be secondary or incidental to the main job.

The new secretary must be a man who is capable of adjusting himself to local conditions. He must be a harmonizer. He must be able to effect a co-operative organization. He will find the public ready to assist him in any task he may undertake but he must be the leader. He will be paid to direct. City building is a profession that is distinctly its own. Cities do not grow and prosper without proper guidance. The new secretary must be a city builder. The committee charged with the nomination of the new officer will withhold a report until such a man is found.

In urging that the campaign be conducted on the league of nations without reservations, President Wilson evidently hopes for its defeat.

COUNTY WILL HAVE TWELVE DELEGATES

lected without opposition prior to the primary and none of their names appeared on the ballots. It is understood that most of the delegates intend to spend several days in Indianapolis during the convention.

The delegates from the eleven counties in the Fourth district will hold their organization meeting Wednesday night. At that conference the two delegates to the national conventions will be selected and other district matters will be discussed. This district will be entitled to several places in the convention organization and these will be filled at the Wednesday night meeting.

The nominations for state offices will be made at the session Thursday. Although Dr. McCulloch, who received a plurality of the Democratic votes for governor, did not receive a majority, it is expected that he will be chosen by acclamation. In case a contest is made in the gubernatorial contest, it is understood that some of the local delegates will not support McCulloch. However, a majority of the local delegation is expected to recognize the plurality vote when the ballot is cast.

No Jackson county men are making an open fight for state offices this year. The district, however, is expected to have at least one candidate and the local delegation will vote to the best advantage of the Fourth district candidate.

The delegates to the Democratic national convention will not be instructed. This course will be followed at the request of Vice-President Marshall which was filed at the time that he withdrew his name as a candidate for the presidency prior to the Indiana primary.

Notice.

I hereby announce that I have this day resigned my position as Secretary and Treasurer of the Seymour Cabinet Company and have disposed of all my holdings in the company. The rapidly growing business of the Seymour Cabinet Co. has demanded more and more of my attention so that it has become impossible for me to properly attend to my official duties in this company and at the same time give to my drug business the careful attention and study which the nature of the business demands. Inasmuch as it is my desire to maintain at any cost the high standard of efficiency which I have established in my Retail Drug Business I have concluded to withdraw from the Seymour Cabinet Co. and in future devote my entire attention to the drug business.

In severing my connection with the Seymour Cabinet Co. I wish to extend my best wishes for the continued growth and success of the business. I hope to see this business prosper and in time develop into one of the city's most substantial industrial plants.

RAIN CAUSES ANOTHER DELAY IN FARM WORK

Downpour Today Seriously Interferes With the Breaking of Ground for Corn.

The hard downpour today causes another serious delay in spring work on the farm. Farmers are breaking ground for corn and the rain seriously interferes with this work. Many farmers have just made a good start with their plowing and were hoping for a week of bright weather. The rains last week interfered with the work and unless there is a period of favorable weather this week the corn acreage will be much reduced.

The wet cold spring has been very unfavorable for crops and farmers in some sections of the county are discouraged with the prospects. Many acres of oats were sown before the recent flood and the fields were badly damaged by the high water. The late sown oats are in need of bright, warm weather to insure a quick growth.

ESCAPED AN OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many Such Cases.

Cairo, Ill.—"Some time ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."

—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letter, and many others like it, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

In the last five years have not been commensurate with the increases in the cost of living.

The interstate commission will take action in the railroad crisis within a few hours, railway executives hoped today. The commission is expected to issue a formal order today accepting the proposal of the executives to take charge of freight traffic and imposing embargoes to halt movement of all but essential freight.

Such emergency action is necessary to prevent a complete breakdown of distribution, railway officials have informed the interstate commerce commission. Delays means an economic upheaval, they declare.

DOCTORS FAVOR NEW TASTELESS CASTOR OIL

New Process Makes Castor Oil Absolutely Tasteless.

Doctors have always prescribed castor oil when a real laxative is needed, and all mothers know how much trouble it is to get children to take it. There need be no more trouble, for doctors are now recommending Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, from which absolutely all nauseating taste has been removed. Children take it readily. They need not even know it is castor oil. This splendid new form of the good old family remedy is the result of a remarkable process perfected by the chemists of Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc. In strength and purity Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is exactly the same as the old-fashioned disagreeable kind. Nothing has been removed but the taste. Do not accept substitutes, if you want a really tasteless castor oil. At all good druggists. Two sizes, 35c and 65c. (Adv.)

Nazimova, the brilliant Russian star, in her newest production, "Stronger Than Death," is announced by the management of the Majestic Theatre as the special attraction, on Tuesday, May 18. The presentation of this great artiste in a great photo-drama is described as a particular treat for motion picture-goers.

In "Stronger Than Death," Nazimova returns to powerful emotional roles after her clever impersonation of the chorus waif in her picturization of Maude Fulton's Morosco stage play, "The Brat." Nazimova is cast as Sigrid, a London music hall dancer, who finds love in the almost wilderness of India, whither she goes for rest.

The story is an adaptation by Charles Bryant of I. A. R. Whyte's brilliant novel of Anglo-Indian life. It is said to be replete with thrills and compelling dramatic climaxes that grow out of an abortive mutiny and massacre of the English planned by the fanatical Hindu natives.

Nazimova's biggest scene is her dance on the steps of the temple—a weird dance in the moonlight which strikes awe and terror to the hearts of the blacks, and causes them to delay their uprising until the British garrison comes to the rescue of the civilian community of aya. Her sacrifice is rewarded by the devotion of the hermit doctor, the strong male figure in the tense drama.

Herbert Clache and Charles Bryant directed the star in the big production, which is one of greatest beauty from the scenic and photographic angles. It was produced under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, Nazimova's Director General.

Mr. Bryant plays Major Tristram Bonicault, the hermit doctor. Others in the superb cast are Charles W. French, Margaret McWade, Herbert Prior, Millie Davenport, Bhogwan Singh, Henry Harmon and W. H. Orlamond. The picture is a Metro release.

ALFRED H. EMERSON, owner of big stock farm, who says Tanlac built him right up after having a bad case of Flu, which left him in awful bad shape. Says Tanlac is only medicine that helped him.

"I have taken only one bottle of Tanlac, but it has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken put together," said A. H. Emerson when he called at Guppy's Drug Store, Portland, Me., the other day. Mr. Emerson lives near West Scarborough, Me., where he owns and operates one of the largest stock farms in that section of the country.

"After I got up from the flu last winter I was in mighty bad shape," he continued. "I was not only in a weakened, debilitated condition, but I also suffered awfully with indigestion. My stomach was so weak I could hardly digest anything and could hardly bear the sight of food, much less eat anything. As I was not able to eat any nourishing food I kept getting worse and worse and I was badly discouraged over my condition as it looked like I would never get my strength back again. My nerves were all upset and my sleep was broken and irregular. I felt tired and worn out from morning until night and could hardly drag one foot after the other."

"I took many different kinds of medicine but nothing did me a particle of good until I began taking Tanlac. As I said before, I have taken only one bottle, but it has made such a remarkable change in my condition I feel like a different person altogether. My appetite is splendid now and I can eat anything I want and as much as I want without the slightest touch of indigestion. My strength and energy have returned. I sleep sound and get up in the mornings feeling ready for a big day's work. Tanlac has put me back on my feet and everybody certainly ought to know about this medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Seymour by Maxon's Pharmacy and in Crothersville by C. W. Taulman, and in Brownstown by Chas. Brock.

HOOVERS
HOME FURNISHERS

Advertising—The Seed

In every section of our land you will find local products of merit that are hardly known in the next county or state.

Occasionally a maker of one or more of these products decides that other folks would enjoy the merits of his goods, if they could hear of them. He begins to advertise so that Mr. Maine and Miss California shall have a chance to know about and to buy them.

Allover the country folks ask for these goods, the local merchant sells and advertises them, and people everywhere thus get an opportunity to enjoy them, too.

Countless of the items advertised in your newspaper have been put at your disposal because advertising was the seed that multiplied the harvest. Advertising has made it possible for you to enjoy many economical comforts today because advertising made it possible to manufacture and distribute them in quantity at prices within reach of all.

The modern home, the modern kitchen was built by advertising. Folks dress better and more reasonably today because of the advertisements.

The advertisements in your newspaper are signs of progressive merchants and makers. Read them to inform yourself on what to buy and where to buy it.

MANY STATES TO COMPILE SURVEY OF LIVE STOCK

Method Adopted by Indiana Farmers' Federation May Become Nation-wide.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 17.—As a result of the lead taken by the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations in the collection of live stock data whereby the farmers might be advised as to the best time in which to ship their product, and if possible, keep a steady flow to the market, a uniform plan of operation is to be installed by all of the leading state associations of farmers in the Middle West. By working through a plan of close cooperation and on the uniform basis, the officers of the Federation believe that the live stock reporting service will prove of great benefit to the producers.

Under the new plan each state will compile its survey of live stocks following out the township and county tabulation form which will show approximately when this stock will be ready for the market, and an exchange of these state surveys is to be made so as to cover the entire Middle West. The producers hope that the data which will be obtained by pushing these surveys will assist materially in stabilizing market conditions. A committee composed of E. H. Cunningham, secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation; W. A. McKerron, of the Minnesota Association; H. W. Mulford, of the Illinois Agriculture Association, and Lewis Taylor, general secretary of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, has been appointed to work out a uniform blank and plan which will avoid any duplication.

Officers of the Federation are highly encouraged with the manner in which producers of live stock shipping to the Indianapolis yards are co-operating with the new department which makes it possible to have a representative of the farmers in the yards. Owing to the crowded condition, no office has been obtained for this representative, but one has been promised to him in the near future. Until an office is obtained at the stock yards, farmers are advised that they can get in touch with the Federation's marketing agent by calling the headquarters of the association in this city.

A number of county membership drives have been planned for the near future. Miami county opens a two weeks' drive May 31st under the supervision of C. S. Masterson; Union county a week's drive opening May 31st under direction of R. C. Julien; Putnam Jefferson and Tipton counties are arranging for membership drives, the dates of which will be announced later.

CREAMRY LICENSES SHOW DAIRY INDUSTRY GROWTH

Lafayette, Ind., May.—A total of 1875 creamery license were issued to creameries, cream shipping stations or other places authorized to test cream for butterfat, during the fiscal year closing March 31, according to the annual report of the Creamery License Divisions of Purdue University. This represents an increase of 464 over the number issued last year and 1,520 over 1914, the year the work was started, when only 355 licenses were issued.

"It is evident that with the great number of shipping stations the farmers of the state have an especially good market for their product," said T. H. Broughton, who has charge of the license work. "At least, they have, more than ever before, a market nearer the source of production as buying stations may now be found in practically every village of the state. The increase during the past year is a result of the growth of the dairy industry, especially in the southern part of the state, where the number of stations has been largely increased."

Washington county increased the number of buying stations from 25 to 36 during the past year; Perry county from 13 to 25 and Crawford from 26 to 33. In the northern part of the state where the dairy industry is already well developed, there are a large number of stations, Kosciusko county leading with 50 and Randolph is second with 43.

More licenses were issued during the year to milk distributing plants than ever before, which was attributed by Mr. Broughton to the fact that more manufacturing plants are buying milk on a butterfat basis because of the continued high price and demand for this basis from the farmers. Heretofore, many factories have bought milk on a gallon basis, which gave the man who produced the best milk the same price as the man who produced the poorest. More ice cream factories are buying on a butterfat basis than ever before, the report shows.

The number of licensed testers in the state also has increased considerably, 2,371 holding licenses last year against 1648 licensed testers the year before, and only 408 in 1914. All testers must pass an examination before they are issued a license which they must have before they are permitted to test milk or cream under the state law of 1913. The issuance of licenses is done to prevent fraud in buying milk and cream and to assure the farmers payment for all the butterfat they sell. Testers' examinations are held each month under auspices of the university at Ft. Wayne, Muncie, Indianapolis, North Vernon, Evansville, Terre Haute and Lafayette. Forty-three took the recent examination at Fort Wayne, and two special examinations were held in April at Plymouth and New Albany. Five inspectors are now employed to check up on the work of the testers and to conduct examinations.

Miss Ida and Martha Eastin, Brownstown, were in the city this morning enroute to Indianapolis for a visit with Mrs. Earl Coffey.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL
HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.

Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

"NO HUNTING" SIGNS Printed on Muslin, 10 cents each, $1 per dozen, at the SEYMOUR REPUBLICAN.

Monstrous! He had seen the open door and deliberately slammed it in her face. Luckily for them both she had heard, all unsuspecting by him as he slowly hung the receiver on the hook, the soliloquy wherein he gave her a pointed hint of the distress with which he abdicated—which knowledge was all that deterred her from despising him with the fervor of a woman scorned.

The fascination which a lighted candle holds for a moth is too well known to require further elucidation here. In yielding one day to a desire to visit the Valley of the Giants, Shirley told herself that she was going there to gather wild blackberries. She had been thinking of a certain blackberry pie, which thought naturally induced reflection on Bryce Cardigan and reminded Shirley of her first visit to the Giants under the escort of a boy in knickerbockers.

Her meeting with Moira McTavish that day, and the subsequent friendship formed with the woods-boss' daughter, renewed all her apprehensions. On the assumption that Shirley and Bryce were practically strangers to each other (an assumption which Shirley, for obvious reasons, did not attempt to dissipate), Moira did not hesitate to mention Bryce very frequently. To her he was the one human being in the world utterly worth while, and it is natural for women to discuss, frequently and at great length, the subject nearest their hearts. Moira acquiring new friends in his old circle. Perhaps if he were secure in his business affairs—Ah, yes! Poor boy! He was desperate for fifty thousand dollars!" Her heart swelled. "Oh, Bryce, Bryce," she murmured, "I think I'm beginning to understand some of your fury that day in the woods. It's all a great mystery, but I'm sure you didn't intend to be so—so terrible. Oh, my dear, if we had only continued to be the good friends we started out to be, perhaps you'd let me help you now. For what good is money if one cannot help one's dear friends in distress? Still, I know you wouldn't let me help you, for men of your stamp cannot borrow from a woman, no matter how desperate their need. And yet—you only need a paltry fifty thousand dollars!"

Shirley carried to bed with her that night the woes of the Cardigans, and in the morning she telephoned Moira McTavish and invited the latter to lunch with her at home that noon. When Moira came, Shirley saw that she had been weeping.

"My poor Moira!" she said, putting her arms around her visitor. "What has happened to distress you? There, there, dear! Tell me all about it."

Moira laid her head on Shirley's shoulder and sobbed for several minutes. Then, "It's Mr. Bryce," she wailed. "He's so unhappy. Something's happened; they're going to sell Cardigan's redwoods; and they—don't want to. Just before I left the office, Mr. Bryce came in—and stood a moment looking—at me—so tragically—I—I asked him what had happened. Then he patted my cheek—oh, I know I'm just one of his responsibilities—and said, 'Poor Moira! Never any luck!' and went into his—private office. I waited a little, and then I went in, too; and—oh, Miss Summer, he had his head down on his desk, and when I touched his head, he reached up and took my hand and held it—and laid his cheek against it a little while—and oh, his cheek was wet. It's cruel of God—to make him—unhappy. He's good—too good. And—oh, I love him so, Miss Shirley, I love him so—and he'll never, never know. I'm just one of his—responsibilities you know; and I shouldn't presume. But nobody—has ever been kind to me but Mr. Bryce—and you. And I can't help loving people who are kind—and gentle to nobodies."

Moira's story—her confession of love, so tragic because so hopeless—stirred Shirley deeply. She seated herself in front of Moira and cupped her chin in her palm.

"Of course, dear," she said, "you couldn't possibly see anybody you loved suffer so and not feel dreadfully about it. And when a man like Bryce Cardigan is struck down, he's apt to present rather a tragic and helpless figure. He wanted sympathy, Moira—woman's sympathy, and it was due of you to give it to him."

"I'd gladly die for him," Moira answered simply.

"Tell me about his trouble, Moira." "I think it's money. He's been terribly worried for a long time, and I'm afraid things aren't going right with the business. It hurts them terribly to have to sell the Valley of the Giants, but they have to; Colonel Pennington is the only one who would consider buying it; they don't want him to have it—and still they have to sell to him. Mr. Bryce says his father has lost his courage at last; and oh, dear, things are in such a mess. Mr. Bryce started to tell me all about it—and then he stopped suddenly and wouldn't say another word."

Shirley smiled. She thought she understood the reason for that. However, she did not pause to speculate on it, since the crying need of the present was the distribution of a ray of sunshine to broken-hearted Moira.

"Silly," she chided, "how needlessly you are grieving! You say my uncle has declined to buy the Valley of the Giants?"

Moira nodded. "My uncle doesn't know what he's talking about, Moira. I'll see that he does buy it. What price are the Cardigans asking for it now?"

"Well, Colonel Pennington has offered them a hundred thousand dollars for it time and again, but last night he withdrew that offer. Then they named a price of fifty thousand, and he said he didn't want it at all."

"He needs it, and it's worth every cent of a hundred thousand to him, Moira. Don't worry, dear. He'll buy it, because I'll make him, and he'll buy it immediately; only you must promise me not to mention a single word of what I'm telling you to Bryce Cardigan, or to fact, to anybody. Do you?"

described Bryce in minute detail and related to her eager auditor little un-conscious daily acts of kindness, thoughtfulness or humor performed by Bryce—his devotion to his father, his idealistic attitude toward the Cardigan employees, his ability, his industry. And presently, little by little, Shirley's resentment against him faded, and in her heart was born a great wishfulness bred of the hope that some day she would meet Bryce Cardigan on the street and that he would pause, lift his hat, smile at her his compelling smile and forthwith proceed to bully her into being friendly and forgiving—browbeat her into admitting her change of heart and glorying in it.

To this remarkable state of mind had Shirley Summer attained at the time John Cardigan, leading his last little trump in a vain hope that it would enable him to take the odd trick in the huge game he had played for fifty years, decided to sell his Valley of the Giants.

Shirley, as explained in a preceding chapter, had been present the night John Cardigan, desperate and brought to bay at last, had telephoned Pennington at the latter's home, accepting Pennington's last offer for the Valley of the Giants. The cruel triumph in the Colonel's handsome face as he curtly rebuffed old Cardigan had been too apparent for the girl to mistake; she realized now that a crisis had come in the affairs of the Cardigans, and across her vision there flashed again the vision of Bryce Cardigan's homecoming—of a tall old man with his trembling arms clasped around his boy, with grizzled cheek laid against his son's, as one who, seeking comfort through bitter years, at length had found it.

Presently another thought came to Shirley. "I wonder," she mused. "He's proud. Perhaps the realization that he will soon be penniless and shorn of his high estate has made him chary of

Three Quarters Of Our Aliens Contained In Seventeen States

THE IMMIGRANT INVASION OF THE CITIES
13,000,000 FOREIGNERS IN UNITED STATES

Survey Shows That Immigrant Stays Very Close to Large Cities

A survey of the people from overseas and their sons and daughters, by the Interchurch World Movement, has revealed that in a triangle running from the extreme corner of Minnesota down to the southern tip of Illinois and from there east to New Jersey and Delaware, this section constituting 18 per cent of the area of the United States, contains 75 per cent of the 13,000,000 foreign population of this country.

The study of the immigrant has revealed, further, that this triangle, bounded on the north by the great lakes and Canada, contains 56 per cent of the entire population of the U. S. and 32 per cent of the 52 cities with a population of 100,000 or more.

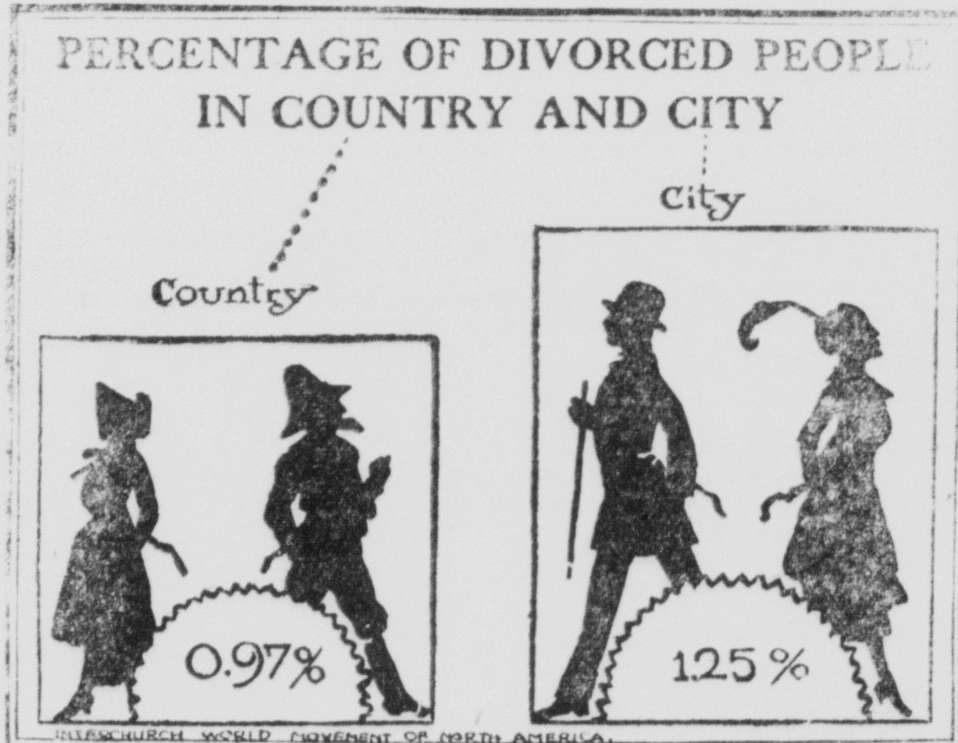

In the accompanying illustration it is shown strikingly that the immigrant stays very closely to the large cities, despite the fact that he may have been a farmer at home or worked in the vineyards on sunny slopes in Italy. Yet in this country he goes directly from the steamship to an industrial centre, there changes his mode of livelihood and adds to the already intolerable congestion in those areas.

In New York City alone the Italians equal the total population of the city of Los Angeles, a total greater than the number of Italians either in Rome or Naples. The number of Austro-Hungarians in New York is equal to the population of Milwaukee. The Jews in New York equal the population of Philadelphia. The Russians would repopulate St. Louis.

Aside from simply making a study of who these people are and where they live, the Interchurch World Movement—30 great denominations in co-operation, which is in a mammoth drive for $336,777,572—plans to ascertain basic facts on the immigrant and his work in order to build a truly constructive program based upon the principles of statesmanship and Christianity, an educational program to assimilate the immigrant into the life of America and make him a 100 per cent American.

DIVORCE INCREASING IN U. S., CITY LEADS COUNTRY

U. S. Leads World, Barring Japan, In Number of Unhappy Marriages

That America has a larger percentage of divorced persons than any other country in the world, with the possible exception of Japan, is the statement made in a report issued by the Interchurch World Movement of North America, which has been making a study of family life in cities.

The divorce question was studied as part of the survey conducted by the Interchurch World Movement on which is based the budget, amounting in the aggregate of $336,777,572, of thirty co-operating denominations. The churches concerned are endeavoring to raise this sum to be applied to their missionary, benevolent and educational enterprises, in an intensive financial campaign.

The report shows that city people are slightly more addicted to marital troubles than country folk. They are in the lead in the procession through the divorce court by a majority of thirty-eight thousand. Of the 341,230 divorced persons in the United States at the time of the last census, 189,607 were from urban centers and 151,623 from the rural sections of the country. Divorced persons made up one half of one per cent of the entire population.

That may sound a reasonable allowance, but it is a good deal more than other countries allow themselves, and far more than this country permitted itself years ago. Sketching the rising popularity of the divorce court, the Interchurch report points out that in 1887 there were only 27,919 divorces granted in the United States. In 1906 the number had jumped to 72,062, an increase of 61 per cent, whereas the increase in population during the same period was only 30 per cent. When the figures of the present census appear, it seems probable that the rate of increase in divorce will be found to be even higher.

In outlining causes of the increase the Interchurch report points out that "the family, the great basic institution of civilization, is facing an entirely new situation in the modern city, where home life is exceedingly difficult to maintain."
